- Outstanding, fast, as well as most notably understandable. Has great deals of more analysis entailing the issue installed in the course.

Christopher Mollfulleda:

- the course is very helpful who is not knowing anything about the Cybersecurity Law.. inshort it is for the beginners.. as i am also an beginner to the Cybersecurity Law's..

Even though pavan sir explained it very beautifully.. but as I wanted to know how the “Indian Cybersecurity Law is...?” I wanted to know it so badly..

But Pavan sir Didn't explained about the Indian Cybersecurity Law.

Overall approach is Excellent..<sup>17</sup>

Sourabh Kulkarni:

- I want to keep learning about the Law aspect of the cyber security industry as a whole. Being in this field, there is a very large gap between us, who systematically collect the data as it relates to which ever case we are working on and the Attorneys who we hand the information off to. A Lawyer who practises in this field most certainly should have either come directly from OPSEC or is continually training in Technical Recognizance and the tracking of misused proprietary informatics.<sup>18</sup>

Eric J. Jung:

- Learned that each individual country is enacting their own Cyber Security laws. The lecturer feels that there should be a universal approach to formulating such laws so that all countries can benefit from such uniformity.<sup>19</sup>

Mahmood Ali:

- Yes it was very good ..examples that sir was explaining was something that easy to comprehend and relate to<sup>20</sup>
